

Sea Alarm's 2012 year in review.

Sea Alarm Newsletter: 2012 News in Review

Sea Alarm is very grateful for all the support and cooperation it has received in 2012. We're trying out a new newsletter format so it seemed appropriate to produce a year-end summary of our activities in 2012 before launching the 2013 quarterly newsletter. Let us know what you think of our new look.

MoUs increase global wildlife response capacity

Sea Alarm signed important Memorandums of Understanding (MoUs) with two internationally recognised oiled wildlife preparedness and response groups, Focus Wildlife and the South African Foundation for the Conservation of Coastal Birds (SANCCOB). These cooperative

Preparedness meetings and exercises in 2012

A major part of Sea Alarm's work is assisting coastal governments, NGOs and other agencies in preparedness for an oiled wildlife response. Regular meetings, trainings and exercises of response plans ensure on-going readiness to respond to wildlife threatened by oil spills. Read more...

Sea Alarm presentations and workshops at international conferences in 2012

In 2012 Sea Alarm attended conferences in various countries, presenting on the organisation's activities and learning about advances in oiled wildlife response around the world. Read more.. agreements increase the effectiveness of all three organisations in preparing for, and responding to, oiled wildlife around the world.. Read more...

POSOW

2012 Sea Alarm oiled wildlife preparedness activities

Sea Alarm is a partner in the launch of new oil spill preparedness website for the Mediterranean and in updating oiled wildlife guidelines to reflect knowledge gained over the last 10 years..Read more

Other 2012 Sea Alarm news

2012 saw changes to the Sea Alarm Board of Directors, while regular meetings with Oil Spill Response Limited, a key Sea Alarm partner, enhanced the two organisations' cooperative efforts. Read more...

forward to a friend

Copyright © 2013, Sea Alarm Foundation, All rights reserved.

unsubscribe from this list | update subscription preferences