EU Directive addresses offshore oil impacts on wildfie

Breaking News:

New EU Directive addresses offshore oil and gas operations impacts on wildlife

On 28 June 2013, the European Union published a new Directive on the safety of offshore oil and gas operations in its Official Journal. The Directive represents a significant milestone as this is the first time that oiled wildlife response is specifically mentioned within European legislation. Sea Alarm welcomes the inclusion of protection of oiled wildlife within the scope of this Directive.
