

Sea Alarm Newsletter Winter 2017

Is this email not displaying correctly?
View it in your browser.

A productive 2017 for Sea Alarm closes, with many projects to report on.

2017 was a busy year, with some exciting new projects and continuing work on a number of important national, regional and international programmes.

Sea Alarm granted IOPC Funds observer status

At its most recent meeting in, November 2017, the IOPC Funds Assembly granted Sea Alarm's request for observer status in the convention.

Read more...

Training in Arctic Russia

Sea Alarm was invited by the Russian branch of the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) to assist with a unique project that aims to protect the Arctic environment against the effects of oil pollution.

Read more...

Developing oiled wildlife preparedness in the Netherlands

As of October 2017, the leadership of a five-year (2017-2022) oiled wildlife programme has been contracted to Sea Alarm.

Read more...

Expanding our horizons to marine wildlife emergencies

In November 2017, Sea Alarm ran a successful workshop in Barcelona on marine emergencies involving sea turtles.

Read more...

Wildlife preparedness event in Germany

Sea Alarm's Hugo Nijkamp attended a workshop for authority representatives on the existing arrangements for oiled wildlife response preparedness.

Read more...

Publication of a brand new international oiled wildlife response standard

We are proud to announce that IPIECA has just released a new publication, Key principles for the protection, care and rehabilitation of oiled wildlife.

Read more...

Progress on the GOWRS project

During 2017 further considerable progress has been made in the Beta-phase of the GOWRS project (Global Oiled Wildlife Response System) project.

Read more...

Three-day Baltic oiled wildlife event

In October 2017 the HELCOM Expert Working Group on Oiled Wildlife Response organized a three-day event which included a working group meeting, wildlife response manager training and a stakeholder exchange of current activities and good practices.

Read more...

The EUROWA team meets again

The EUROWA project partners met at RSPCA Mallydams Wood in October 2017 for their first in-person meeting since the end of the EU-funded aspect of the project.

Read more...

Sea Alarm at the 12th REMPEC Focal Points meeting

Sea Alarm's Saskia Sessions-Puplett gave a presentation at a recent meeting of the Focal Points of REMPEC, held May 2017 in Malta.

Read more...

forward to a friend

Copyright © 2017, Sea Alarm Foundation, All rights reserved.

unsubscribe from this list | update subscription preferences

why did I get this? unsubscribe from this list update subscription preferences
roxana@torre.nl · Rue du Cyprès 7 B10 · Brussels 1000 · Belgium

MailChimp